Kids have something to say about 'Day of Atonement'

By Mark Hadapp
Staff writer

Damon Davis of East St. Louis said he was excited to speak at Thursday's second annual "Day of Atonement" because the voices of children are sometimes not heard.

"There are many things that I think should be changed by adults," said Davis, who is in the seventh grade at Sister Therese Bowman Catholic Church in East St. Louis. "But the one thing that stuck in my mind was drug abuse. Drug abuse is a huge problem in our community and I think firm action should be taken against it."

Davis was among the many youths who spoke at the Holy Day of Atonement's youth interfaith rally held at Bible Fellowship Church in East St. Louis. The event was hosted by the Muhammad Mosque 2B Church.

The focus of this daylong ceremony — which celebrated the second anniversary of the Million Man March in Washington D.C. — was the youth.

The Day of Atonement is a day where people move closer to God, said the Rev. Ralph Muhammad of the Nation of the Islam Mosque.

The first step in this eight-step process was an individual acknowledging a fault in their life. The last and final phase was the individual asking God for forgiveness, the Rev. Muhammad said.

For example, Davis said he believes society can benefit from the DARE program.

"DARE has helped me a lot," said Davis, who was chosen by the East St. Louis police department as its 1997 outstanding DARE student. "And I think it can do the same for anyone who is willing to learn."

Davis said he believes stiff penalties should be imposed on drug offenders.

"(Now) a person could get caught on the streets one day selling, and be out the next day," he said. "More fines, larger balls, and longer prison sentences are just a few solutions that I think might work. Drug dealers should not feel welcome in our community."

Hoffman will seek return to former Democratic seat

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

Jay Hoffman wants his old job back.

The veteran legislator from Collinsville announced Tuesday afternoon that he will seek appointment to the 112th District House seat being vacated by incumbent state Rep. Glenn Bradford, D-Glen Carbon.

"The people from the (Democratic Party) came to me and talked to me about returning," Hoffman said. "That certainly meant a lot to me. I appreciate their faith and confidence. I really can't wait to get back."

Bradford announced his resignation from the seat last Friday. Elected last November, Bradford, an Edwardsville attorney, cited family and business concerns that led to his decision.

112th DISTRICT

His resignation is effective Oct. 26. A replacement can't be named until then.

"I plan to meet with St. Clair County (Democratic) Chairman Robert Sprague on Oct. 27 to make the appointment of Jay Hoffman to fill this vacancy," Madison County Democratic Chairman Mac Warfield said. "Jay is a proven leader who has done, and will continue to do, an outstanding job for the people of the 112th District."

Hoffman is no stranger to the district. He was elected to the 110th District in 1990. After redistricting in 1992, he was elected to the new 112th District and re-elected in 1994. Instead of seeking re-election last November, Hoffman ran instead for the 20th District seat vacated by U.S. Rep. Dick Durbin. He was defeated in that race by former Madison County Treasurer John Shimkus, R-Collinsville.

"I don't know which is more life-changing: losing or going back," Hoffman said. "Certain things happen for a reason, and looking back, it probably was a blessing (to have lost)."

Hoffman said returning to private law practice has given him a year to spend more time with his wife, Laurie, and their two children, ages 10 and 8. If he had been successful in his bid for Congress, Hoffman said he would have missed out on a lot of family experiences.

"This way, I get to have the best of both worlds," Hoffman said. "I get to do something I love and spend time with my family while I do it."

Studio to continue

The Southern Illinois Department of Art and Design will continue its Saturday Studio for children from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Saturdays through Dec. 6. There will be no class Nov. 29.

The studio experience is intended to stimulate the creative and aesthetic growth of students through the visual arts.

The Saturday morning art education program consists of four classes: Primary Children's (ages 6-8) and Intermediate Art (9-12), both from 9 to 11:30 a.m.; and Drawing/Painting for Junior and Senior Students (13-18), both from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

For more information, call the Department of Art and Design at 692-3183.

Let's Talk REAL ESTATE

by Jerry Besserman & Tina Stanley
REALTORS

SINGLE-AGENCY BROKERS

With agency standards having changed so much over the past decade, the need has been seen for brokers to give their clients disclosure forms that explain their relationship. Traditional agents may work with the buyer, but technically work for the seller. Single-agency brokers, on the other hand, will take listings and work with buyers, but are careful to arrange it so that they are never responsible to both buyer and seller in the same deal. This means that buyers who have signed a single-agency broker to help them with their home searches can expect him or her to represent them, keep their information confidential, and help with negotiation. This means that if the buyer represented by a single-agency broker wants to purchase a home that the agent has listed, the agent will represent either the buyer or the seller — not both.

As an independently owned and operated Century 21 office, we are dedicated to providing you with real estate service that is professional, courteous, and responsive. Whether you're buying or selling, call us at 877-7653 for additional information on disclosure forms. Our goal is to bring buyers and sellers together to the mutual satisfaction of both. We have thorough knowledge of the Metro-East area and put that knowledge to work for you. Tina can be reached at 782-4300. Jerry can be reached at 782-9647. The office is conveniently located at 2126 Fort-ton Rd.

HINT: Because home buyers will actually pay more for a 30-year mortgage over the life of a loan than for the house itself, it pays to shop just as hard for the mortgage as for the house.

County Board puts gloves on

Approves money to help fight closure of military bases

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

Saying the fight to save local military bases is not over yet, the Madison County Board approved spending up to $75,000 to support efforts at keeping the Melvin Price Support Center and Scott Air Force Base open.

The resolution authorizes County Board Chairman Rudy Papa to sign an agreement with the Leadership Council Southwestern Illinois and pay up to $75,000.

During the last round of base closures, the county chipped in $75,000.

Both bases avoided closure during that round, but Papa said the Base Realignment and Closure committee would be looking at bases again in 2000.

Of the two local bases, the Price Center is seen by local officials as the most vulnerable.

Price had been on the hit list during the last round of closures because of its ties to the U.S. Aviation and Troop Command, which is in the process of being relocated out of St. Louis.

Board Member Harold Byers, D-Highland, was critical of the expense, saying it started as a one-time expense and now just keeps going.

In other business, the Board:

- Approved a resolution to spend $90,000 from the county's Matching Tax Fund for improvements to a Granite City industrial park located on Illinois 3 and Pontoon Road.

- The money would be used to construct roadway entrances and other infrastructure improvements.

- Approved appropriating $50,000 from the Bridge Fund to the Regional Storm Water Coordinator Office.

- In 1994 Madison, St. Clair and Monroe counties entered into a cooperative agreement to coordinate activities relating to storm water flooding.

- Approved a no-interest infrastructure loan of $477,000 to the city of Collinsville and Collinsville Township to pay for repairs to the Judy's Branch, Burdick Branch, Schoolhouse Creek and Schneider Creek canals.

The money will be reimbursed by the U.S.D.A.'s Natural Resources Conservation Service.

- Approved solid waste management grants to Edwardsville Middle School — $257.65, and the Marine Township Park Association — $5,795.94.

- Approved spending $15,000 for improvements to East Main Street in Maryville.

Fatality capped off all-day binge

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

The Edwardsville man charged in a fatal hit-and-run incident in the city of Madison Monday evening had spent most of the day drinking, according to a statement he made to police.

Edward B. Wentz Jr., 26, of the 5900 block of Old Poag Road, Edwardsville, was charged Wednesday with one count each of reckless homicide and aggravated driving under the influence. Bond was set at $75,000.

Court records show Wentz has a lengthy record of traffic offenses, and police records show one felony conviction for robbery in 1991.

He now also faces charges of driving under the influence, operating an uninsured motor vehicle and failure to give aid at the scene of an accident.

According to police reports, Wentz was allegedly driving a pickup truck that struck a motorcycle on Illinois 203 at about 10:30 p.m. Monday.

Sheryl Carlyle of Granite City — passenger on the motorcycle — was pronounced dead of massive head and chest injuries at St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City. The driver of the motorcycle, Adonis Brown Jr. of Granite City, was treated and released from the hospital. Neither was wearing a helmet.

The two were on their way to the Dairy Queen in Madison when the accident occurred.

Brown told police the truck struck them from behind.

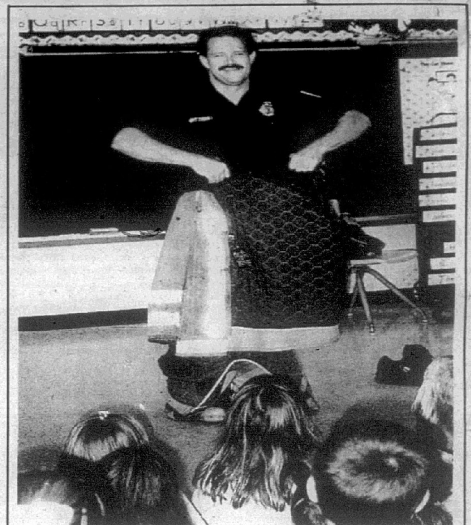

A witness said he had been driving behind Wentz's truck said he saw the collision and followed the truck to the intersection of Second Street and Highway 203. The witness then returned to the scene of the accident and gave police the information.

With that information, police followed a trail of anti-freeze to the parking lot of a local convenience store, where they found Wentz sitting in the truck.

According to reports, he told police at that time that he had "a couple of beers."

He was arrested and taken to the Madison police station, where he failed two of three field sobriety tests and refused a blood test.

MetroLink receives more federal dollars

By Kimberly Haas
Staff writer

As part of its full-funding agreement, the federal government has appropriated $30 million to the St. Clair County MetroLink light rail extension to Belleville Area College.

On Oct. 9, U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello (D-Belleville) announced the U.S. House of Representatives had approved $30 million for the 17.4-mile extension from the Fifth Street and Missouri Avenue station in East St. Louis.

With this funding, the St. Clair County extension moves forward from East St. Louis to Belleville Area College. The appropriation builds on the full-funding agreement signed by federal officials at BAC last fall," Costello said in a written release.

The $30 million will provide funding for right-of-way acquisition and engineering on the extension, or Phase Two, of the development.

The Clinton Administration's full-funding grant agreement commits the federal government to $243 million for the light rail extension from East St. Louis to BAC.

"Every year, Congress appropriates a certain amount to expanding MetroLink to St. Clair County," said Bi-State director Linda Hancock.

EPA complaint filed against GC Steel regarding clean air

National Steel's Granite City Division has been threatened with sanctions, but a mill official says the action concerns past matters.

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and the U.S. Department of Justice filed a civil complaint Oct. 7 against National Steel Corp. for alleged violations of the Clean Air Act. The complaint seeks a civil penalty of up to $25,000 each day of the violation of various particulate (smoke, ash and dust) emission limits at the coke plant and steel-making shop.

"The company hasn't been moving as quickly as we wanted, so we filed the complaint," said William Omohundro, EPA spokesman.

However, Robert Maxwell, head of public relations at the Granite City plant, says they have already complied with the EPA standards. "Any issues they had on those things were quickly resolved," he said. "It's a past thing. As far as we know, we're in compliance with everything."

The EPA first notified National Steel of the violations in February 1985, and has been in negotiations with the company since May 1987.

Board hopes grant will aid home

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

Madison County will seek a grant to pay for an addition to its Juvenile Detention Home in Edwardsville.

The County Board approved a resolution seeking the grant from the Criminal Justice Information Authority at Wednesday's monthly meeting.

Funding for the grant comes from the U.S. Department of Justice.

The grant could finance 90 percent of the estimated $900,000 cost of the proposed 16-bed addition.

The facility was expanded in 1985, and is operating near its capacity of 42 persons.

The home is averaging about 39 prisoners per day. Most are from Madison County.

When space is available, the home accepts juveniles from other counties and charges $85 per day to house them.

COUNTY BOARD

County officials said only Madison and St. Clair counties have juvenile detention facilities, making the chance of getting a grant much greater. They also said much of the cost of the new addition could be recouped by housing juveniles from other southern Illinois counties.

Last year the home turned away 354 out-of-county juveniles for lack of space. This year, 168 have been turned away through September.

County officials said they believe the grant could result in an economical way to provide bed space that will be needed in the future for Madison County youths.

"It's not going to be far in the future when we're at capacity with our own kids," Detention Home Superintendent Steve Bowker said. "This is a way to build now, at today's costs, and there's the matter of the 90 percent match."

Board member Homer Henke, R-Moro, chairman of the Grants Committee, said the county needs to take advantage of the money before it is gone.

"This money won't be available forever," he said. "The detention home is full, and we have been turning them away," Henke said. "At this time we thought it was something that would be an asset to the county."

The original ordinance prohibited all parking on Timberlake Drive, but was amended to include only the commercial portion of the street at the request of Trustee Bob Vincent.

The board also approved a resolution changing the appropriations ordinance by moving $1,200 from the contingencies fund to the inspector's mobile telephone fund. That fund will have an annual appropriation of $2,200.

The village cannot spend more than the amount appropriated within a given fiscal year.

The board also approved an ordinance creating an Ordinance Committee.

The action came at the end of the meeting, and many in the crowd laughed when Wilson announced it. "Don't laugh," he said. "My attorney said we need this."

Village Attorney Keith Jensen did not attend Tuesday's meeting.

The board also approved a business license for R.A. Drywall Supply on Horseshoe Lake Road.

Exams

 health professional must first be a registered X-ray technician.
 A mammogram, a special breast X-ray that can detect 90 percent of cancers, can pinpoint trouble even before a lump can be felt. Although significant tools in early detection, mammograms alone are not enough. Because the equipment can miss 10 percent of breast cancers, women should not ignore a "feeling" that something is wrong, even if a mammogram comes up clean.
 There are three steps women should take:

- Have yearly mammograms, starting at age 50. Younger women should still have them, but less frequently.
- Conduct self-exams often.
- See a doctor once a year. Although most lumps found in the breast are not cancerous, every lump should be checked by a health professional, just to be safe. A doctor or breast specialist may want to perform a biopsy, where breast cells or tissue are tested to determine if they are cancerous.

Thanks to improvements in technology, if a cancer is detected, doctors now have a number of choices.

 "(Doctors) use to automatically say you need a mastectomy," Senior said. "There are more options today."
 Those options include various forms of mastectomy, ranging from the radical — rarely used today, because of advances in surgery — to the partial. Surgery can mean removal of the cancer/lump, the cancer/lump and portion of the breast, all of the breast or some of the lymph nodes beneath the arm.

 ber jumps to 88 percent.
 "What was a surprise was that they ranked MetroLink as the No. 1 priority for Madison County," said MCT Manager Jerry Kane.
 About 62 percent of those polled said they supported an increase in sales tax to fund MetroLink.
 "That's when you usually don't get support when you tell people they have to pay for it," Kane said.
 Voters will decide on a quarter-cent sales tax to support MetroLink in November.
 Another surprise was the high percentage of people who supported the use of high occupancy vehicle (HOV) lanes for commuters.

 About 65 percent supported the use of HOV lanes.
 Kane said HOV lanes allow a faster commute for bus riders, and car and van poolers.
 "It rewards the conscientious commuter," Kane said. "The fact is they work and maybe it's time to take a look."
 Support for tolls to speed up construction of a new bridge across the Mississippi River was evenly split, with just over 40 percent in favor of that funding source.
 The survey was conducted by Regional Research and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, and has a margin of error of 4 percent, plus or minus. It gathered responses from 600 randomly selected county residents on questions ranging from rating the condition of existing roads, highways and transit service, to which funding options they would support for various improvement projects.

 The responses showed clear opinions on a range of issues, particularly which projects would be considered priorities if there is competition for future transportation funding.
 Transportation improvement rankings in order of importance were: MetroLink, increasing intersection capacity, extending Interstate 255, widening Highway 159, sidewalk improvements, railroad grade improvements, a new bridge across the Mississippi River, expanded bus service, widening county roads, more bike trails and on-street bike trails. In plan committee meetings, MetroLink and the new bridge were the top priorities. Kane said one possible reason the bridge was not rated as highly is that people consider it a "done deal."

 Last year the Illinois and Missouri departments of transportation announced the proposed bridge would come through National City and Madison in Illinois.

Trip

 white pirogue from the Army," Lananah said. "What they had on the Discovery Expedition were two pirogues, the red pirogue and the white pirogue, and a keelboat."
 The re-enactment of the trip is being made in a pirogue crafted by volunteers under the guidance of St. Charles, Mo., resident Glen Bishop.
 (Bishop) built a replica of the keelboat, and it took him 12 years," Lananah said. "The boat burned in a fire where he stored it. We plan to start making another keelboat and with all the help, it shouldn't take us more than a year."

 What Lananah and the crew didn't count on along the way was taking part in a re-enactment shot for the PBS documentary, "Lewis and Clark: The Journey of the Corps of Discovery," directed and produced by Ken Burns.
 "They did all kinds of different filming," Lananah said. "They even held a camera at the end of the oars to shoot the water rolling off the oars."
 But what he said he finds most exciting is the 200th anniversary celebration of the expedition, which will begin in 2003.

By then, he said, the entire fleet will be ready for the two-year journey to retrace the entire expedition.
 "Every year leading up to 2003, the boats will do a portion of the Lewis and Clark trip, promoting the anniversary," he said. "That's the main reason we need the boats finished as soon as possible."
 It is the construction of the boats that originally drew the attention of Jim Rascher, a retired carpenter and cabinetmaker who lives in St. Peters, Mo.
 "I read they were building the entire flotilla in the Journal, and I went down there to join the crew," he said.

 But Rascher also joined the crew and made the trip to Fort Massac. Now he, too, is looking forward to the bicentennial re-enactment of the expedition.
 "I'm planning on it," he said. "After all this, if I'm still living, I'll be on the boat."
 Crew member Dean Clawson of St. Louis grew up around boats.
 "My family sold boats in St. Louis for about 30 years," Clawson said. "I guess I'm what you would call a 'river rat.'"

Mount Vernon boosters have twist on raffle

Several years ago, this corner passed along an observation from Dennis Pace, a native of Collinsville whose sports insight is most welcomed.

It was Pace who revealed to me the game of "dirt or turf" at Busch Stadium, where bored Cardinals baseball fans would bet on the resting place of the ball between innings. Regardless if the baseball was rolled toward the mound by a player or an umpire after a third out, the ball would come to a stop either on the dirt of the pitching mound or on the turf (it was Astroturf in those days).

No wonder, then, why I was eager to learn when Pace—who has distinguished in many ways since his days as a high school all-state basketball player at Collinsville—approached me with "Got another one for you."

As an assistant coach for more than 20 years in the O'Fallon High football program, Pace has duties that include scouting, and he thought he had seen everything until a recent trip to Mt. Vernon.

No telling how many homecoming games, band performances and pom-pom routines he has witnessed but at Mt. Vernon his attention was caught by events at the end of the first and third quarters.

Said Pace: "What I get out of it is that their booster club must be selling chances on the placement of the football on the field at the end of those two quarters."

"From what I saw, the officials must have been informed about it before the game because when the first quarter ended, the referee made sure that a guy who came out of the stands made note of what hash mark ball was placed on."

"They did the same thing at the end of the third quarter, and the booster club member signaled to someone else the placement."

According to Pace, tickets sold at $5 each and the buyer receives a hash mark yard number for both quarters, meaning there are two winners per game unless—the ball wound up on the exact location twice. Pace also noted that prior to the game, tickets are sold for a chance to win the game ball.

Unfortunately, while ticket purchases have stirred interest in the South Seven Conference school's games, there's also interest of another sort in Mt. Vernon.

According to Pace, as he drove to and from a game there, he noticed several automobile bumper stickers seeking the ouster of Rams coach Dutch Kuras.

Flyers ruin Warriors' homecoming

By Patrick C. Heston
Staff writer

East St. Louis Senior spoiled Granite City's homecoming Friday night as Ferrell Moore bullied his way up the middle on a 4-yard touchdown run with 3 minutes 46 seconds left in the game to give the Flyers a 20-15 win over the Warriors.

After a scoreless first quarter, sophomore quarterback Zack May found Brooks Narvaez open in the end zone and drilled a 5-yard touchdown strike to give the Warriors a 7-0 lead just 14 seconds from halftime.

PREP FOOTBALL SOUTHWESTERN CONFERENCE EAST ST. LOUIS 20, GRANITE CITY 15

May, making his second varsity start, was impressive, hitting 16 of 25 passes for 148 yards and one touchdown.

While May was moving Granite through the air, the Warriors' ground game was sputtering, managing only 21 yards on 32 carries, including 14 rushes for minus-14 yards in the second half.

East St. Louis' Markus Lee, who rushed 11 times for 107 yards, nearly scored on the second play from scrimmage in the second half. The senior tailback was hit behind the line of scrimmage, but broke two tackles and scampered downfield for 57 yards before Granite's Rocky Smith made a tremendous open field tackle to bring Lee down on the 5-yard line. One play later, Lee ran it in. The PAT try failed and Granite City led 7-6.

Late in the third period, the Flyers defense converted on a turnover. After May coughed up the ball on a hard hit, Damien McCotrel ran it in from 25 yards. The two-point conversion put the Flyers on top 14-7.

Granite retaliated by driving 81 yards in seven plays, capped by a 9-yard touchdown run by Juaneel Goodwin with 9:44 to play in the game. The senior running back started left, then cut back inside to daylight. The Warriors' try for two succeeded and the score was 15-14.

The Flyers countered with the final scoring drive — 11 plays that took nearly six minutes off the clock.

Belleville East wins; Panthers defeated

By R.J. Gerber
and Scott Marlon
Staff writers

The big, bad Belleville East defense came into Public School Stadium on Friday night and more than likely blew away the Alton Redbirds' hopes of a postseason berth.

Behind a dominating defensive unit and an 86-yard kickoff return for a touchdown by Darrell Scruggs, the Panthers claimed sole possession of the Southwestern Conference Championship with a 20-6 triumph.

East (6-2 overall, 6-0 SWC) won its sixth consecutive game and probably dashed any chance of Alton (5-3, 3-2) reaching the playoffs.

Alton registered just 151 yards of total offense, including 37 yards on 15 rushing attempts.

"We just virtually had no offense," Alton coach Bob Shannon said. "We couldn't run. We were outmanned at the line of scrimmage."

O'Fallon falls

Judging solely by the won-lost records, O'Fallon appeared headed for an easy victory Friday night. But Panthers coach Gary Bridell knew better.

The host Panthers were 8-1 heading into the game, while Columbia (Mo.) Hickman was 1-5.

But the Kewpies raced out to a 14-0 lead and went to win 51-26.

"They just kicked our butts," Bridell said. "We have to accept that and go on. It was a combination of poor offense by us and good defense by them. They whipped us on the line."

O'Fallon finishes the regular season 7:30 p.m. Friday at Cahokia (7-0) in a battle for the South Seven Conference title. A loss could leave the Panthers out of the playoffs—despite a 6-3 record for the second straight year.

"We just have to bounce back," Bridell said. "I hope the kids will be ready."

Lancers clinch league crown with win vs. Warriors

By Patrick C. Heston
Staff writer

Belleville East locked up the Southwestern Conference soccer title Thursday night, drubbing Granite City 4-2 behind a pair of goals and an assist from senior forward Larry Seiler.

With crosstown rival West blanking Collinsville 2-0, East had to tie or win at the Gauntlet to clinch the conference outright.

The Lancers are unbeaten in the Southwestern Conference and stand 2-1-3 overall. The Warriors are 12-7-1 on the year, 2-3 in the conference.

East entered the Gauntlet on a tear, having lost only to DeSmet in the final round of pool play in last week's Granite City Tournament of Champions, and having steamrolled Vianney 6-0 on Tuesday.

"I felt going into the game that (Belleville East) was the best team on the field," said GCHS coach Gene Baker. "They've had a super year. They are deserving of the No. 1 seed in the sectional. They had the better of the play tonight."

BOYS SOCCER SOUTHWESTERN CONFERENCE BELLEVILLE EAST 4, GRANITE CITY 2

That better play started early when Granite was whistled for a hand ball in the box at the 10:53 mark. A Kiko Perez corner kick sailed through the defense and past Warriors keeper Brandon Williams where it was baited away by a defender. Stan Achley's penalty kick put East in front 1-0.

The score became 2-0 at 24:09 when Scheller took a nifty pass from Chad Holland and beat Williams from six yards out.

Granite City, unable to muster any serious offensive threat in the first half, got on the board less than three minutes into the second half. A hand ball in the box gave Adam Sanchez a penalty kick. The senior sweeper swept the ball into the right corner of the net, drawing the Warriors within 2-1.

At 56:49, Sanchez whiffed on a bounding ball inside the box and Scheller was there to spank it into the goal, giving the Lancers a commanding 3-1 lead.

That lead became 4-1 at 65:28 when Kane Sweeney took a textbook pass from Scheller and found the mark from six yards.

The Warriors added a cosmetic score at 72:51 when Jonas Janek scored off a flurry in front of the East goal.

"This is a great moment for the city of Belleville and for Belleville East especially," said first-year coach Gary Carr. "The boys know what they were playing for, they knew it was something special. But I don't know if they knew how special it would be to win a conference title and beat Granite City on their home field all in the same night. This has been a very rewarding night."

East won over any doubters who felt the Lancers didn't deserve the sectional's No. 1 seed by totally dominating Granite and making it look relatively easy in the process.

"Our key is still that we give goals away," said a disappointed and frustrated Baker. "But I give credit to Belleville East. They are a very good team."

How good are they?

"Let's just say we're playing very well right now," said Carr. "We have an excellent chance of winning the sectional — a better chance than most."

Granite City faced McCluer North on Friday and hits the road for a game against SLUH tomorrow to conclude the regular season.

Triad's Hellon plays like senior in sophomore's body

By Brian Bretsch
Staff writer

At first glance, Triad's Joe Hellon has all the size and strength that college soccer coaches are looking for in a talented senior.

The only trouble is Hellon is just a sophomore.

To opposing coaches, Hellon looks like a senior trapped in a sophomore's body.

If it were the National Hockey League, he would be compared to the Philadelphia Flyers' Eric Lindros — a big guy who makes his presence felt when he is on the field with his quickness and finesse.

"I just love nailing the ball with my right foot and watching the goalie just stand there," Hellon said. "I like going into the corners and getting a step around the defender. I've got a little quickness. If the ball is there, somebody is going to get nailed."

Hellon has a bomb for a right foot. When he decides to load up a shot he has got plenty of smoke on the ball.

That was the case Oct. 11 against Collinsville. Hellon collected a loose ball behind the Kahoks defense and raced toward the Kahoks net. Hellon released a wicked shot. Collinsville goalkeeper Mike Betorf got a leg on the ball, but there was so much velocity on the shot that the ball went into the net anyway.

Hellon's goal was the game-winner. It is probably the biggest goal of his young career, lifting the Knights to the program's first victory against Collinsville.

"I talked with Todd Bruns and he said I needed one goal and that would be the game," Hellon said. "I kept my eyes open and got a lucky break and just walked in."

Hellon has walked in on quite a few opposing goalkeepers this season for the Knights. He leads the team with 17 goals and 10 assists. Bruns is right behind with 16 goals and four assists.

Hellon's point total is something of which he is proud. As is the case with any player, Hellon would rather talk about his goals.

"My dad told me anybody can put the ball into the back net," Hellon said. "He said the guy who passes it should get all the credit."

Hellon is in the case of the 17 goals he has scored this season. Hellon credits the hard work of Bruns, Pat Sparks and Kyle Rainwater.

Hellon has done a little work of his own to become a good goal scorer. He has worked extremely hard at his play off the ball. In the case of his goal against Collinsville, Hellon was cheating up the field and hoping for a lucky bounce, which he got.

My problem last year was I just sat up top and waited for the ball to come to me," said Hellon, who scored 19 goals last year as a freshman. "This year I am coming back for the ball."

All that talent, size, finesse and continued improvement will only leave more college coaches asking the question, "That Hellon kid is only a sophomore?"

Sophomore Joe Hellon has been Triad's leading scorer this fall with 17 goals and 10 assists.

Crusaders could be a factor in (Class AA) postseason play

By Scott Marion
Staff writer

If senior experience means anything, the Althoff volleyball team should be a factor in the postseason. The Crusaders, who took a 14-6 record into this weekend's Freeburg Tournament, have six seniors: setter Michelle Allen, outside hitters Laura Johnston and Janet Venorsky, middle blockers Ashley Bennett, Jenny Young and Amy Rickman.

"It's been a very successful season so far," said coach Kathy Wuller. "Every match we've lost has either been three games or two very close games."

"Because we have six seniors, it's a lot different as far as experience and learning. These girls have played together for four years. It's unusual to have that many seniors, but they've all stuck together and they all play. That tells you a lot about their talent."

"Pretty much all of our seniors play other sports, which helps as far as wanting to win. The competitiveness in these kids is very high."

After facing Class A powers Brees Central (last year's state champion) and Mater Dei in sectional competition in recent seasons, Althoff has moved to Class AA this year and will play in the Belleville East Regional. The Crusaders face Belleville West (a perennial state qualifier) in an Oct. 30 semifinal match. Barring an upset, the winner will face No. 1 seed Belleville East (which beat West on Oct. 2) in the championship match Nov. 1.

GIRLS VOLLEYBALL BELLEVILLE ALTHOFF

"We usually play better against West or East than we do against Central or Mater Dei," Wuller said. "I think it means more to the girls. They're going up against their friends and kids they play against in the summer. It's more of a grudge match than anything."

Althoff's season includes a first-place finish at the Carbondale Tournament (Sept. 1) and a second-place finish at the Mount Pulaski Tournament (Sept. 12-13).

"We expected a lot from ourselves," Venorsky said. "We wanted to beat a couple teams we supposedly shouldn't have. We know we can beat them."

Venorsky, in her third varsity season, and Allen, in her fourth season, are the most experienced of Althoff's seniors. Young came up halfway through her sophomore year, while Bennett and Johnston are in their second full season. Rickman is a varsity newcomer.

"Every group has been different," Allen said. "This group is not as cliquish on the court — we work well together. Even off the court, everyone gets along well."

"We're more well-rounded this year," Young said. "We have more depth on the bench. Everyone can play at least two positions."

The seniors list the Mount Pulaski Tournament and an 11-15, 15-8, 12-15 loss to Belleville East on Oct. 7 as the team's best performances of the season. The Crusaders started slowly against East, trailing 14-2 at one point in the first game.

"When I broke my finger and (Venorsky) was hurt, some younger players came up and did a good job," Bennett said.

"I sprained my ankle in the first match at Mount Pulaski (against Huntleigh)," Venorsky said. "I was hurt, but I kept playing. The East match was the first time I felt totally comfortable playing on it."

On the other hand, the seniors believe the team played poorly in losses to St. Joseph's Academy of St. Louis (Sept. 23) and Belleville West (Oct. 1). Tuesday against Mater Dei, the host Crusaders lost 15-13, 15-12 despite having a 10-4 lead in the first game.

"Against St. Joe, we just gave up in the third game," Young said. "That's the only time we've done that all year. Against West, we didn't play well at all in the second game."

Like their coach, the girls feel that the move to Class AA could provide additional motivation for the regional. "We want to prove our point," Venorsky said. "Mater Dei and Central are not our immediate rivals like East and West."

"Because we have six seniors, it's a lot different as far as experience and learning. These girls have played together for four years. It's unusual to have that many seniors, but they've all stuck together and they all play. That tells you a lot about their talent."

Lancers' title represents changing of guard in SWC soccer...

By Patrick C. Heston
Staff writer

The king is dead. Long live the king. Fans in attendance at the Gauntlet Thursday night may well have witnessed the changing of the guard in Southwest Conference soccer.

Belleville East, far and away the best team in the SWC this year, demoralized Granite City 4-2, claiming its first conference title in soccer for boys or girls — and the first for the city of Belleville.

"There's a lot more parody in the conference than there once was," said East coach Gary Carr. "It's been coming now for quite a while. In fact, I think that slowly but surely the power base has been shifting away from Granite City. Right now I think it's moving toward Edwardsville. With Granite seeded No. 4 and Collinsville seeded No. 7 in the sectional, you can see how times have changed."

"We're more well-rounded this year," Young said. "We have more depth on the bench. Everyone can Warriors can't bounce back next season with a stellar campaign. But just as Granite City's dominance of state soccer has faded — 10 state titles, six in seven years, five in a row, yet nothing since 1990 — the Warriors' conference glory has also diminished.

Collinsville, Edwardsville and, now, Belleville East have all claimed conference titles in the 1990s, and only two teams — Collinsville and Alton — trailed the Warriors in final conference standings for 1997.

The resurgence of the Lancers' program under first-year coach Gary Carr, and the presence of Belleville West just a step behind, may well be the formal announcement that the power base has shifted in SWC soccer and that the annual title is now truly up for grabs.

But, regardless, Thursday's triumph for Belleville East represents a huge win and an unforgettable moment in both Lancers and Belleville history.

"We wanted to win (the title) outright. We were committed to that goal," said Carr, who came to East from a coaching stint in Mascoutah. "This is our first soccer title in the Southwest Conference in the 21 years we have had a soccer program. I can't begin to tell you what this means to the community, the school, the kids or myself. It's just fantastic to come in here and help these kids accomplish this in the first year. It is a dream come true for all of us."

"We had the talent and we talked early that we'd like to do this," Carr added. "This program has had chances before and things went wrong that kept a conference championship always out of reach. But, now, we have what these kids and this school have waited so long to have. It's a great moment."

In Granite City, where conference titles in soccer have been a common occurrence over the years, sometimes taken for granted by fans, Belleville East's emotional reaction may be difficult to understand. But for a school and community that has waited more than two decades to do something Granite has done so often, it's hard not to be emotional.

"The kids are really emotional about this," said Carr. "I've seen them get emotional before, like after a big win, but they always settled back down pretty quickly. But, this is different. We've reached somewhere we've never been before. We've accomplished a rare feat for a community that has never before had such an experience. I can't blame the kids for feeling it deeply. I feel it deeply."

... and the sectional, too

By Scott Marion

The list of accomplishments for the Belleville East soccer team continues to grow.

In a coaches meeting Tuesday, the Lancers were voted the No. 1 seed for the Collinsville Class AA Sectional.

Rounding out the top 10 seeds are O'Fallon, Edwardsville, Granite City, Belleville West, Quincy, Collinsville, Alton, Springfield Southeast and Springfield Lanphier.

First-round games will be Oct. 25, with the top six seeds playing their first games Oct. 28. The sectional semifinals (Oct. 30) and the championship game (Nov. 1) will be played at Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville. The super-sectional is set for Nov. 4 at a site to be determined in the Springfield area. East is 12-1-3.

NEWS

Lancers won game vs. Granite, but lost respect with behavior

I got ugly at the Gauntlet this past Thursday. I'm not talking about the three cards on one play fiasco at 42-24, which sent Belleville East's Jim Heinen and Chad Dagenhart to the bench with yellows and Granite City's Josh Hickam to the sidelines with a red.

Pat Heston

That was ugly, though. Heinen was carded for initiating the problem, when he grabbed Hickam in front of the net to keep him from getting his foot on a near-perfect corner kick. Hickam retaliated by sending an elbow toward Heinen in an attempt to get the East defender to release his hold on the shirt. Dagenhart picked up his yellow by becoming the third man in the scuffle and refusing to back away when told to do so by the referees.

That was certainly ugly. But I'm talking about the taunting of Granite City players and coaches by the Belleville East bench—including the assistant coaches—from the time the Lancers took a 2-0 lead until the game-ending whistle.

It grew progressively worse as the game wore on, even drawing the attention of one referee who put an East assistant verbally in his place near the end of the second half, and was an ugly scar on an otherwise admirable performance by Belleville East.

"I'm disappointed," said Lancers coach Gary Carr. "I expect better from my players and my staff. I told my players at the end of the game not to say anything derogatory to the Granite City players. But I understand that things got out of control verbally through much of the game. And for that, I am genuinely sorry."

The taunting and gloating got to the Granite coaching staff.

"I'd never let my team do that," said

Granite City coach Gene Baker. "If I heard a player of mine say anything like I heard from the other bench, I would stop them immediately. Their players, and even their volunteer coaches, were taunting our players and taunting me. It was out of line."

Way out of line.

Sure the Lancers are good. Baker is the first to admit it, paying them a compliment with the first words out of his mouth after the game. "They're a very good team," he said. "They were saying all game that they were No. 1, and now they are. They deserve it. But there's more to being No. 1 than just getting there. They'll find that out. Now, they have to stay there."

I, too, knew East was good. Their play on all three thirds of the field was impressive. At times, they almost toyed with Granite City. They had the Warriors out-classed from the start.

Then they proceeded to let everyone know, in various ways, that they were the class act of the Southwestern Conference. That's when I lost my respect for the Lancers. I still respect them as conference champions. After all, they're easily the best. It's just that I don't respect them any longer as a team or as individuals.

When legendary Centralia High School basketball coach Arthur L. Trout was asked why he never put players' names on the backs of their uniforms, he responded, "If you're as good as you think you are, people will know it. And they'll know who you are. They won't need to see your name on your back."

There is some wisdom in those words.

If Belleville East is as good as it thinks—and it really is—people will know it. They don't need confirmation in the form of taunting, gloating and childish behavior.

I hate to see any team that is a champion talent-wise prove in the process of becoming a champion that they are far from a champion character-wise.

That, I'm afraid, is what the Lancers proved last night.

There's more to being a champion than winning a title.

HOROSCOPE

Sunday, Oct. 19

The moon and Mars oppose each other, adding more power to our new beliefs. With Mercury now in Scorpio, many find out just how strong their ideas are. It's a perfect time to set priorities and to follow them. Under a lighthearted Gemini moon, the day's events feel more like a game than a competition, so try not to be too cut-throat!

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Oct. 19). You have unstoppable ambition this year—you'll see your bright ideas come to life. Travel in November leads to love for singles. Married couples are offered business propositions in January or April. Colleagues honor you for a February achievement. The best signs to connect with are Capricorn and Aries. You'll have the best luck when you reach out to those in need.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Keep a firm grip on all funds.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Self-examination in the morning makes the whole day go smoothly. Others follow your request as long as you know exactly what you want. A major purchase requires money down first. Surprise someone with dinner!

Market timing critical to investing

By Jeff Prosser

"Don't hop in and out of the market like a Mexican jumping bean. Invest for the long term."

This is the advice of Louis Rukeyser of television's "Wall Street Week."

History has shown that while some investors spend their lives seeking the elusive stock market tops and bottoms, the successful ones recognize long-term opportunities. Professionals call this time in the market "the market."

To illustrate, Rukeyser created the "single unluckiest investor in the entire world." Back in 1963, this hypothetical loser began investing $2,000 a year into the stocks that comprise the Standard and Poor's 500 index. His timing was so bad that he invested on the worst day of the year every time; the exact top of the market. Mr. Loser did this faithfully for 10 years, until he finally said, "Enough!" He stopped contributing to his investment.

Right after our unlucky investor stopped his deposits in 1973, his brother-in-law started investing $2,000 a year. He turned out to be the single luckiest investor. Every year, he made his investment at the exact bottom of the market. Mr. Lucky was so delighted by his stupendous market timing that he kept it up for 20 years, twice as long as his unlucky relative.

On June 30, 1994, the two got together. Mr. Lucky boasted to his unlucky brother-in-law that through precise market timing, his investment of $40,000 had grown to $256,037.

"Gosh," Mr. Unlucky replied, "my $20,000 investment is worth $264,207, about $8,000 more than yours."

The moral of the story is simple: Forget market timing. The secret is time in the market, which lets you take advantage of long-term growth in corporations and the economy.

Rukeyser's example not only illustrates the long-term benefits of staying put but also shows the advantages of regular investing. No one is ever lucky enough to always buy low, and no one is ever unlucky enough to always buy high.

Regular investing, however, offers the benefit of dollar cost averaging. Dollar cost averaging requires a little knowledge, a lot of discipline and a regular amount of money available for investing. The amount of money is immaterial; the important thing is to invest every month.

The basis of dollar cost averaging is that no stock or mutual fund always goes up or down. By ignoring the fluctuations and keeping to the discipline of regular investments, you eliminate the temptation of trying to pick the bottom or the top. Your regular investment buys more shares when prices are down and fewer shares when prices are up.

If you want to succeed at investing, listen to experts like Rukeyser: Forget market timing. Dollar cost average, and stay put.

Use caution when selecting trustees

One inevitable question that is always raised by counsel in the preparation of a will, revocable trust or irrevocable life insurance trust is: "Who do you plan to name as trustee?"

Given the multitude of other significant items which have to be addressed, the discussion concerning the selection of a trustee is often shortchanged. A number of the areas that should be addressed in the process are as follows:

- Size of the estate.
- Complexity of the estate.
- Investment skill of family members.

The initial choice is whether one wishes to select a corporate trustee. The corporate trustee offers institutional stability, sound record-keeping and a track record of real performance.

A personal trustee generally affords greater personal interaction with the trust beneficiaries and the potential for lower or even no administration costs.

The surviving spouse is usually the first person that comes to mind when one is selecting a trustee. Estate tax consideration, limited skill in managing large sums of money and advanced age often eliminate the surviving spouse as a logical choice.

Many draftsmen choose to always have two trustees if personal trustees are selected or an individual trustee in addition to a corporate trustee.

Realtors present awards

The Granite City Board of Realtors recently held their Annual Installation Banquet at the Melvin Price Support Center. The 1998 officers are: Bob Bailey (president), Janet Partney (vice president), Neva Lucas (secretary/treasurer). Directors for the coming year are: Debbie Sander, Judy Hoffstet, Mary S. Harper, Rod Flood, and Lynn Rieger. Also serving on the Board of Directors will be Bob Simon (immediate past president), Lucinda Schmidt and Jeanette Holder (governors of regional MLS).

Twenty local realtors were presented 1996 Presidential Club Awards. Those who received the awards were:

(See REALTORS, Page 7B)

in an attempt to minimize the disadvantages of either selection.

The decision is not easy and individuals who are asked for advice in the selection process often have their own biases.

Remember, in selecting a trustee, you are having someone carry out your directives and instructions. The trustee is acting in your place; the trustee's powers are the direct result of the authority you wish to delegate.

The task is made easier if you have given some thought to the process ahead of time. Asking friends and relatives about their own personal experiences can prove to be helpful, but should not be the determinative factor.

Firm sponsors writing contests

By Joetta Cornett
Staff writer

College-bound seniors and technical writers, get out your pen and paper. Now's your chance to win scholarships or cash.

Innovations Inc., consultants in writing and training technologies located in St. Louis, is sponsoring two contests.

An annual essay contest is open to all college-bound seniors in the St. Louis area. Students are asked to submit a typed essay of 750 to 1,000 words long responding to a question about communications.

The essays will be judged based on creativity, organization, specific details, development of ideas, style, technique and overall presentation.

Three scholarships will be awarded, ranging from $2,500 to $1,000. Verification of college enrollment is required before scholarships can be collected.

The purpose of the scholarship contest is to promote the communications field, particularly technical writing, as a viable career choice for young adults and to encourage students to pursue a technical communications career.

Entry forms and guidelines are available through high school English teachers and counselors. Entry deadline is Dec. 1.

The other contest is the second annual writing competition for technical writers to recognize excellence in technical communications.

The winner will receive the Innovative Communicator of the Year Award, $500 in cash and a plaque.

The award will be presented to the writer with the outstanding and most effective technical communication product. Entries can be submitted in one of three categories: printed publications, marketing materials and electronic communications. A finalist will be selected from each category in which an overall winner will be selected.

The Innovative Communicator of the Year contest recognizes that technical writing can be stimulating and creative as well as informative, said Lynn Bacon, operations manager for Innovations Inc. "Written communications in the technical field should be as innovative as the technologies they represent. We want to recognize those who meet those challenges head-on through our writing competition."

Deadline for entries in this contest is Nov. 3.

For more information on either contest, call 519-1520.

County awards academic scholarships

Madison County Board Chairman Rudy Papa awarded several $1,000 scholarships in September to students attending local colleges.

Scholarship recipients included:

• Keith May of Granite City, marketing management major at • Elizabeth K. Callender of Granite City, a medical laboratory major.

• Marguerite Fisher of Granite City, a computer programmer major.

• Rosalind Sterritt of Granite City, a word processing major. All are attending Belleville Area College at the Granite City Campus.

The county scholarships were based on high academic achievement and the financial needs of the students. The scholarships are awarded from the Community Services Block Grant program, which is funded by the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs and administered by the Madison County Development Department.

Papa and Madison County Board members Homer Henke of Moro and Ray Romine of Granite City presented the scholarships at Charlie's Restaurant.

Falter named commended student at GCHS

Tara Falter, a student at Granite City High School, has been named a commended student in the 1996 National Merit Scholarship program.

A letter of commendation from the school and National Merit Scholarship Corp., which conducts the program, will be presented by Principal R. William Rotter to the scholastically talented senior student.

Approximately 35,000 commended students throughout the nation are being honored for their exceptional academic promise.

Although they will not continue in the competition for Merit Scholarship awards to be awarded next spring, commended students placed among the top 5 percent of more than one million students who entered the 1996 Merit program by taking the 1996 preliminary SAT/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

Here's an electric bill that everyone can agree on.

More and more, people all across the state are agreeing—The Electric Service Customer Choice and Rate Relief Bill of 1997 (Senate Bill 55) is a good thing for everybody. In addition to more safeguards and freedom of choice, consumers get an automatic 12% savings on electricity costs while continuing to enjoy safe and reliable electric service.

The growing support isn't all that surprising. After all, representatives from Illinois businesses, citizens' groups and organized labor put more than two years into crafting an agreement. That's why this measure passed the Illinois House by such an overwhelming majority. With your state Senator's support, it will do the same in the Senate.

Chrysler's redesigned sedans are stylish, efficient

By Tom Strongman

When Chrysler introduced its LH sedans, the Dodge Intrepid and Chrysler Concorde, five years ago, they were quickly nicknamed "Last Hope" by wags who suggested these cars represented the company's last chance to get it right when it comes to building a competitive sedan for the vast American marketplace.

Chrysler did get it right, for the most part, and the Intrepid and Concorde were significant vehicles in the corporation's renaissance. Although not without faults, they brought Chrysler into the modern era. Gone were landau roofs and crystal hood ornaments, replaced by clean, tasteful designs that had large interiors.

Now comes the second generation of the vehicles, and they are a quantum leap ahead of the originals. Innovative design and a new family of engines mean these are not LH cars any longer. Even though they share the same platform, architecture, roofline, windshield and powertrains, each brand is now distinct.

Journalists were invited to sample pre-production versions of the Dodge and Chrysler recently in Austin, Texas. Not only do they drive better and perform better, their design is stunning.

The Concorde's Ferrari-esque grill gives it a light, airy look that is both vintage and modern. Intrepid, on the other hand, has a much more aggressive look. The concave trunk lid sweeps boldly down into the bumper, while the hood and roof are almost one continuous arc.

Both cars have completely new interiors, with soft-touch instrument panels, higher consoles and more room in the back seat. Concorde has wood-grain trim on the dash and console to create a luxury feel, while the Intrepid uses a textured, flat-black plastic. The base upholstery doesn't quite have the same elegance as the exterior, but the upscale leather interiors are sumptuous.

Improvements abound:

- The multi-function stalk next to the steering wheel is now easier to use and understand.
- The remote trunk release has been moved from the glove box to the left side of the steering wheel.
- Both radio and heating/cooling controls have been moved up in the dash and closer to the driver.
- Headlights are bigger and nearly twice as bright.
- The windshield defroster is more efficient, and washer nozzles have been moved out on the hood so they don't ice up as easily in winter.

Use of advanced three-dimensional computer modeling technology, called CATIA, allowed Chrysler to create a completely new family of aluminum V-6 engines in record time and without ever being drawn on paper.

This program enabled engineers to try out as many as 1,500 variations of the intake manifold and combustion chamber, for example, vs. the five that would have been tried before. That saved both time and money in addition to making the engine more efficient. Each engine is 25 percent more powerful and 10 percent more efficient, while emissions are also down 30 percent.

The base 2.7-liter V-6 has dual overhead cams (DOHC) and puts out 200 horsepower, while the larger 3.2-liter is a single-overhead-cam (SOHC) design with 225 horses. The bigger engine is offered only in the Intrepid ES and the Concorde LXi.

I sampled both, and found the 2.7 was robust considering its size. It loved to be revved and had a pleasant snarl. It cruised easily at high speeds, but needed moderate prodding to pull long hills.

Both cars have excellent road manners for family sedans. The ride is supple without being sloppy, yet they respond with little body roll on twisting roads. The steering is nicely weighted and road feel is good. The attempt to provide a good ride and responsive handling has, for the most part, been successful.

Noise, vibration and harshness have been reduced. A large aluminum cross-member in the rear suspension helps absorb road vibrations while keeping the wheels in contact with the road. Up front, the engine and suspension sit in a "cradle" that also helps cut down noise and vibration while stiffening the front.

On many of the secondary highways, I noticed a fair amount of tire noise, but dividing highways proved to be quieter. Considerable sound deadening has been used in the new models, but I will have to reserve judgment for its effectiveness until I get to try a car for a few days at home.

These two cars have formidable competition, but none of the competitors is as well-styled or as spacious inside. How the new sedans stack up in the workaday world remains to be seen until I get my hands on a regular production vehicle for a longer drive. But from first impressions, these are outstanding cars that should do well to move Chrysler closer to its goal of building great cars.

Chrysler has said the prices will be about 1 percent higher than the 1997 models, which typically cost around $23,500, according to Automotive News.

Auto trends: more power, goodies, air bags

By Rick Stoff

The new 1998 vehicles hitting the showrooms are coming with four evident trends: more safety, more power, better suspensions and more electronic assists.

There are not a lot of new models being released this year, but the manufacturers still are claiming progress with a few more horsepower here, a firmer suspension there, new electronic goodies and air bags everywhere.

Many of the new models boast of firmer, more comfortable ride qualities along with stouter body designs that reduce wind noise and rattling.

In the safety equipment race, side air bags are another expanding trend. These bags deploy from the side of the seats or a door post.

Many models now offer global positioning systems. These are electronic devices that analyze signals from navigational satellites to provide precise location coordinates. One would think you would have to be pretty darned lost to need global positioning in a car, but maybe someday the things will alert you to the locations of potholes and speed traps.

Other electronic gadgets, of course, continue to find their way into automobiles, too. Traction control is slipping from the upscale models into the lower ranks. Some new Cadillacs carry computer-controlled shock absorbers. (Try to find replacements for those at the corner parts store.) And steering-wheel-mounted, electrohydraulic, gear-shifting paddles, just like they use in Formula One race cars, can be found in a street car, the $139,000 Ferrari F355.

Turbocharging is not as popular as it used to be, but Bentley now fits turbos to all three of its models, which range in price from $140,000 to $325,000.

Speaking of the creeping horsepower trend, last year's Lamborghini Diablo had to make do with 492 horsepower from its 48-valve, V-12 engine. Thank goodness to now cranks out 512, more than many racing cars you see on television. If the $275,000 Diablo isn't good enough for you, a $400,000 Canto model is coming soon.

These model-year introductions are getting confusing. Coming next spring will be the first 1999 models to go on sale. At least Porsche and Saab start selling '99s next year.

Trends to look for in the future:

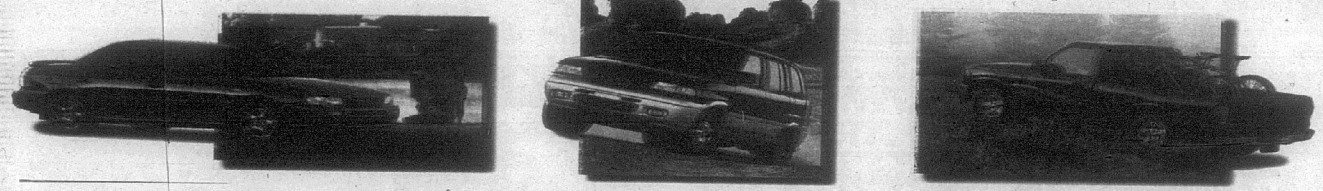

- More spark plugs. Mercedes-Benz is selling a new 2.8-liter V-6 engine with two plugs per cylinder.
- More air bags. At the rate air bag locations are increasing, the year 2001 will bring trunk air bags to protect groceries and fishing tackle from sudden stops.
- More low-price models. Automakers have realized too many people have been buying used cars instead of new cars.
- More cars that look alike. Wouldn't it be nice to see a tail fin or bumper bullet or something that looked different?
- More advanced-year models. Expect to see the first 2010s in 1999.
